

ARTO

HANDCRAFTED IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA SINCE 1966

+ HANDCRAFTED FROM THE START

The rich history of ARTO Brick dates back to 1966, the year Arto Alajian crafted his first thin brick veneer from a handful of clay. Part of an avant-garde art installation, Arto's early bricks were used to border a ceramic mural. Expanding beyond the art world, Arto started selling his beautifully functional brick veneers to customers along his milk route, and ARTO Brick was born.

A LEGACY LIVES ON

Every ARTO product begins with the remarkable story of our founder, Arto Alajian. The son of an orphaned survivor of the Armenian Genocide, Arto was born in Egypt. He spent his childhood shadowing his father as he ran the family's shoe factory. In the midst of political unrest, Arto's father was forced to shutter his factory and move his family to Beirut.

There, the family encountered more upheaval as Beirut descended into chaos and civil war loomed. Arto's search for a city he could call home led him to Los Angeles, with its stunning coastal views and then-minimal traffic.

Industrious and entrepreneurial like his father before him, Arto landed a job delivering milk during the day so he could attend night school to study aviation mechanics. After meeting a ceramicist pioneering LA's ceramic art scene, Arto put his skills and ingenuity to use making thin clay brick veneers that bordered the artist's murals.

Arto knew he was onto something more than just borders for artwork, so he began selling and installing his brick veneers in homes, shops, and restaurants along his milk route. As demand grew, Arto seized the opportunity before him. He turned in his textbooks, traded his milk truck for his first kilns, and launched ARTO Brick.

Over the past six decades, Arto's company has continued to expand both in reach and in product. Since his passing in 2014, Arto's sons Armen and Vod have kept their father's legacy and story still very much alive in the handcrafted, artisan products made with passion and precision right here in Los Angeles—Arto's final home. You'll find the heart, soul, and spirit of Arto Alajian in everything we create.

+ EARTH'S MATERIALS

Sourced from Earth's natural materials and handcrafted for your environment, ARTO's high-fired terracotta (ceramic) and fiber-reinforced concrete products are perfect for just about any location and any application.

Able to withstand water, freezing, and thawing, ARTO clay products are virtually maintenance-free. Enhance your indoor and outdoor spaces, walls, and floors with the tactile warmth of artisanal clay brick, tile, and pavers. Easy to love. Easy to care for.

Also available in tiles, pavers, and bricks, our concrete products are equally comfortable indoors and outdoors, on walls and floors. Rugged enough for freeze/thaw conditions, our concrete products should not go in water and require sealing. Given their porous composition, concrete products will age and patina over time and require a bit more maintenance.

Whether you choose clay, concrete, or both, we'll deliver an extremely durable product designed to last more than a lifetime when properly maintained. Choose from over 250,000 standard items, or let us customize a clay or concrete product just for you. Because we make every tile, brick, and paver to order in our Los Angeles facility, there's really no limit to what we can create. So go ahead, challenge us.

Custom-made or standard, every ARTO product is a unique, handcrafted work of passion. Which means every item comes with naturally occurring imperfections and irregularities that give our products their rustic elegance and distinct personalities.

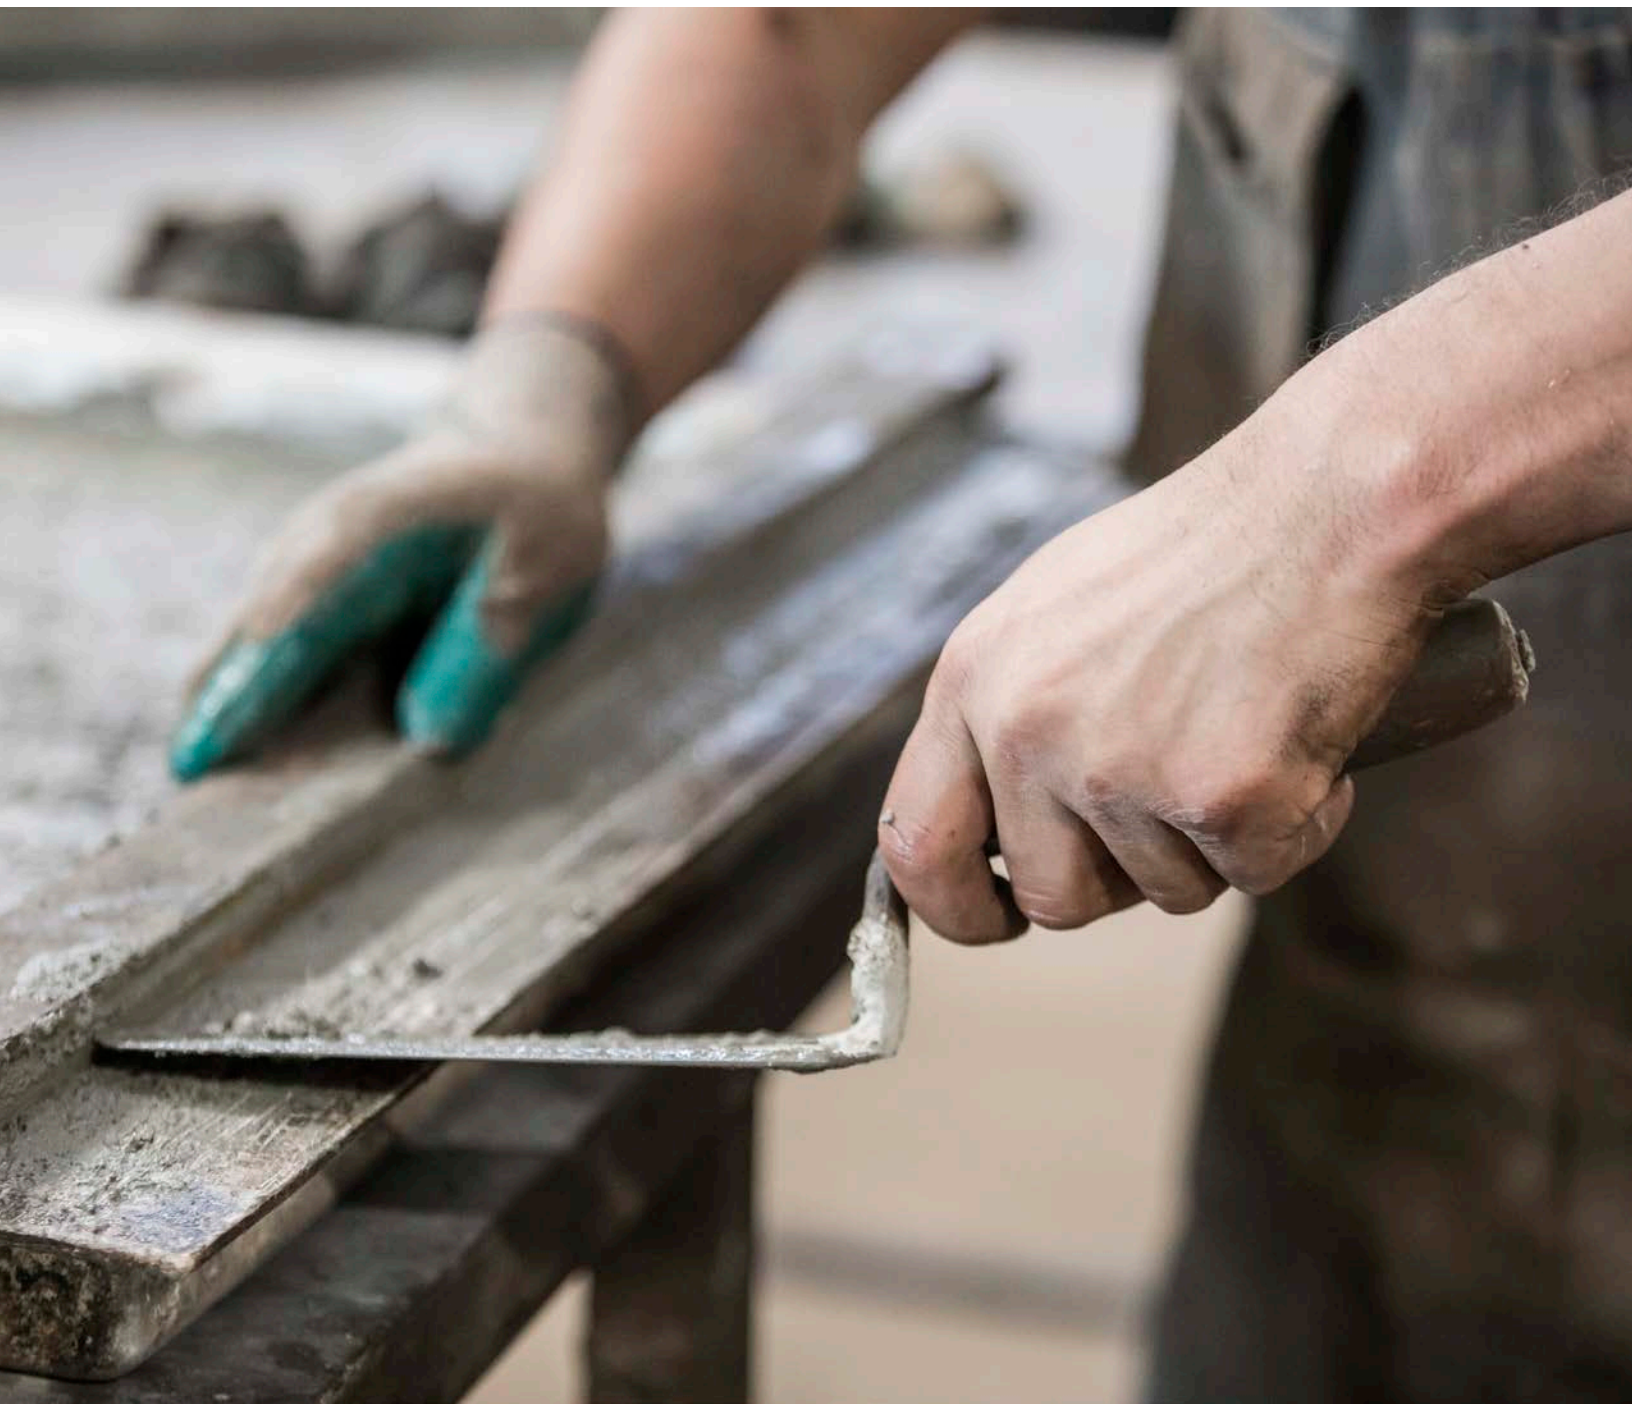

At ARTO Brick, we ensure you know what you're getting before you make a purchase: namely, a one-of-a-kind creation made by humans, with care and craftsmanship.

OPPOSITES ATTRACT

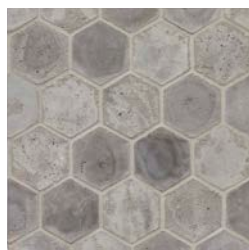

Open floor plans bring open possibilities. But they also bring challenges, especially when it comes to connecting different living spaces. Featuring a lighter color palette with intriguing variation, ARTO's concrete hexagon tiles uniquely juxtapose with the classic dark hardwood flooring in this kitchen. The contrast creates visual pop while signifying a shift from one living space to another.

WELCOME HOME

One of Los Angeles's hippest boutique brokerages, ACME Real Estate chose ARTO's concrete tiles for the remodel of a classic LA Spanish-style home. Featuring ARTO tiles in the entryway and kitchen, the remodeled home welcomed and wowed potential buyers with its bright, airy, and fresh feel. It's no wonder the property sold for well above the list price.

+ OUTSIDE THE BOX

Interior designer Ryan Brown of Bravo's hit TV show Flipping Out knows how to transform a home. In remodeling this kitchen, Ryan chose a monochromatic pattern of ARTO tiles to create a multi-dimensional backsplash that gives the workspace a sense of depth. The result is a feast for the eyes.

MAKE A SPLASH

Modern meets rustic. For the backsplash of this cozy yet contemporary kitchen, the homeowners chose a matte concrete brick in place of the usual glossy ceramic tile. The unexpected twist brings warmth and character to an otherwise modern space.

PLAYFUL PATTERN

When Ore Studios was hired to remodel this home in Seattle's historic Capitol Hill neighborhood they wanted to reflect the young family's happy point of view. They selected ARTO's curvaceous Sierra Snow Conche tiles and laid them out in a fun pattern that created a playful movement throughout the space.

BE BOLD

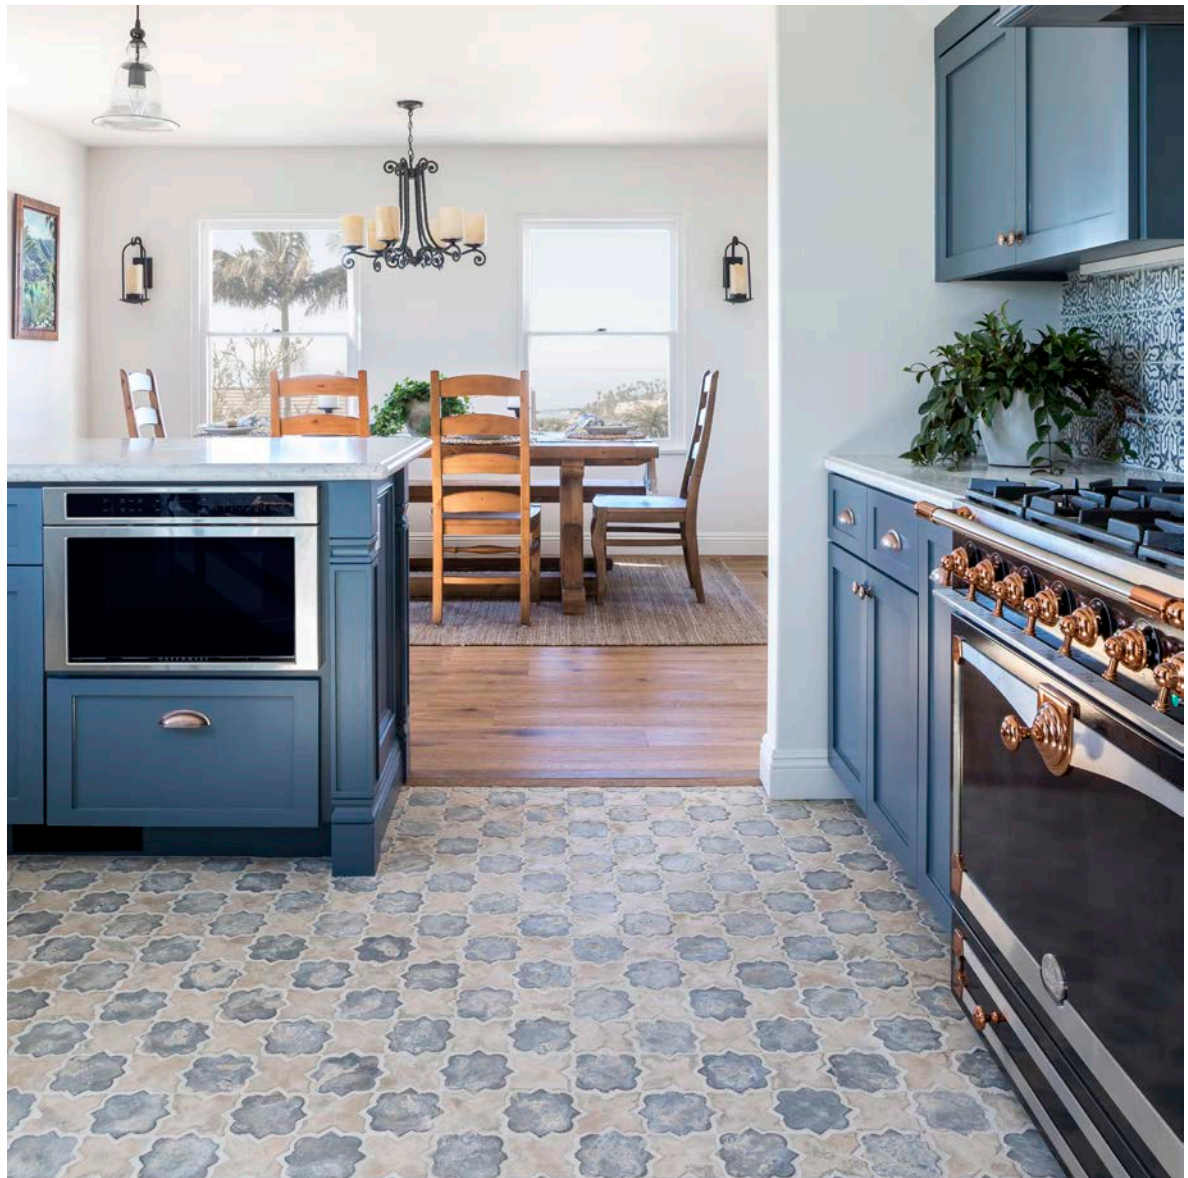

Why stop at the backsplash? Carry the theme onto an accent wall and watch the entire space come alive with bold color and texture. In the case of this kitchen, the homeowner chose to extend our concrete arabesque pattern across multiple walls with vibrant results.

+ PERFECT PAIRING

Inspired by the beautiful patina that emerges on copper over time, our copper-glazed ceramic tiles make a bold statement. In reinventing this Hollywood Hills bathroom, designer Leslie Shapiro Joyal brilliantly paired our Oleson hexagon tiles featuring rounded edges with real copper fixtures. The effect is both timeless and modern.

Add a sparkling diamond necklace, and suddenly a little black dress looks infinitely more elegant. Designers have seen the same effect with our handpainted ceramic decos. Intricately detailed, these distinctive decos bring an element of interest and elegance to rooms otherwise staid in wood and stone. Perhaps that's why we often call them the "custom jewelry" of our lines.

+ SPA TIME

Transitions traditionally present a challenge, especially when it comes to intimate living spaces. To create a seamless shift from wall to floor in this open-concept Hollywood bathroom, the homeowners chose our oversized concrete tiles. Versatile and durable in wet as well as dry applications, the tiles put the spa in this living space.

COMMERCIAL

Not all tiles are created equal. Today's architects and interior designers have a virtually endless supply of tile options to choose from, but for professionals in search of something truly special for their commercial projects, the choices become decidedly more selective.

We offer that rare product that distinguishes your project with attention to detail. Made in the United States—right here in the heart of vibrant Los Angeles—our handcrafted ceramic and concrete tiles and pavers, 3D wall cladding, thin brick veneers, and handpainted decos deliver durable functionality, exceptional quality, and distinctive personality to any commercial job.

From rustic elegance to modern minimalism, vibrant mix-and-match color palettes to monochromatic tones, eclectic shapes to geometric simplicity—whatever your architectural or design vision, we'll help you bring it to life.

All ARTO products are made to order, allowing you to customize your tiles' shape, size, color, and texture. Or choose from our vast selection of standard products, with millions of combinations to experiment and create with. We'll even custom-fabricate products for historically accurate restorations and repairs.

For dramatic and stunning outdoor projects, explore our wide range of durable and beautiful products including concrete pavers, pool coping, as well as wall and pier caps, ideal for hardscape applications. We may be located in sunny Southern California, but we subject our concrete and ceramic products to rigorous freeze/thaw testing, which is why you'll find ARTO products enhancing commercial projects in the harshest of climates across the United States and beyond.

From a single custom tile to thousands, we have the flexibility and scalability to handle any size commercial job. It's your project and your vision—just let us know what you need and we will deliver. In the following pages, you'll find a sampling of the exceptional commercial projects we've had the pleasure of contributing to. We welcome the opportunity to help you realize your next vision.

WARMTH AND LIGHT

The iconic Beverly Center's flagship restaurant Cal Mare welcomes diners with a unique blend of rustic warmth and modern lightness. To accentuate that harmonious combination, the designer chose ARTO's Roman concrete tiles in an earthy Hacienda color and textured Limestone that will patina naturally over time. On the walls, ceilings, and exterior accents you'll find our Bastogne Thin Brick Veneer that reflects the abundant space's natural light.

TOTALLY FLOORED

With its bold pattern incorporating tiles in five different glaze colors, Mighty Kitchen's vibrant floor is a mosaic of energy, as well as a study in functionality. When one of the central glaze colors failed to meet commercial slip-and-fall resistance standards, we added grit to the glaze. The end result exceeds regulations as well as the designer's creative expectations.

+ FASCINATING FLAVORS

Inspired by the simple, healthy meals he enjoyed in Mexico, Toca Madara's owner wanted to share this authentic Mexican culinary experience with his own patrons. He also wanted his restaurant environment to reflect the unique blend of flavors represented on the menu. To achieve that effect, his designer used a mix of contrasting materials including aged metal, concrete tile, quartz stone, lush upholstery, and tooled leather, resulting in a high-end creative space as fascinating as the food. Included in the mix is ARTO's earthen-toned Artillo concrete arabesque tiles which grace the restaurant's exterior façade. The designer also chose our Charcoal and Early Gray tiles for a custom exposed aggregate surface that adds an enticing texture to the patio.

LOCALLY SOURCED

Hook Burger is hooked on sustainability—not only with what they serve, but the space they serve it in. As part of this mission, the designer used reclaimed and locally sourced materials whenever possible for the interior décor, including ARTO's California-made Antik brick. Completing the theme, the brick's Tuscan Mustard pigment derives its unusual color from iron oxides produced by recycled steel scraps reclaimed from car factories. Made from locally sourced and renewable ingredients, the concrete between the veneer is engineered for long life.

+ FRESH LOOK

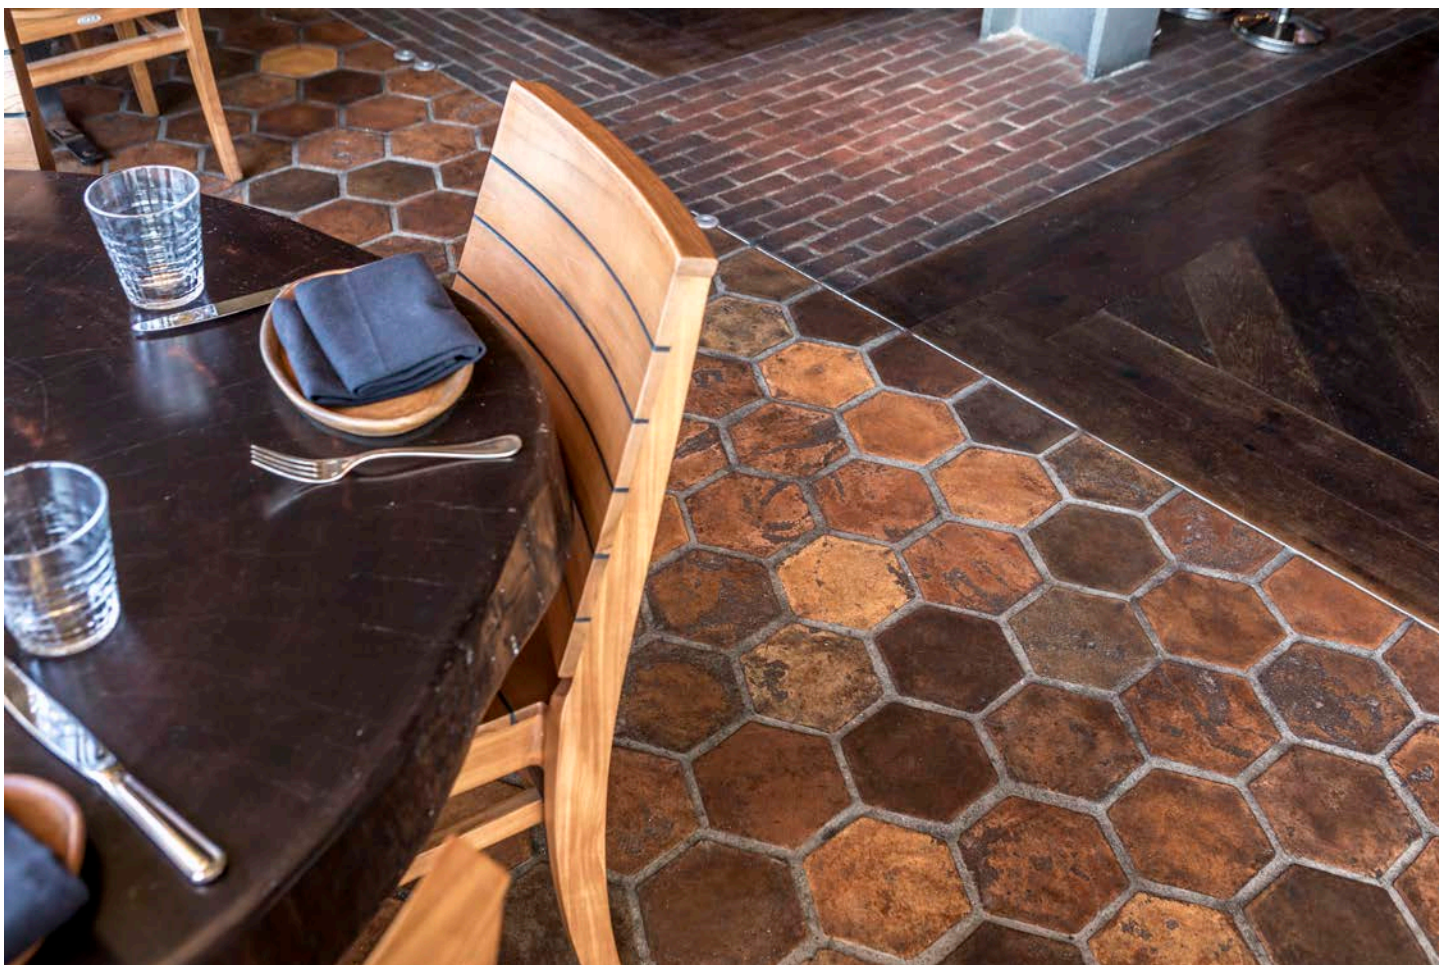

An upscale, refreshingly contemporary cafeteria, Lemonade has attracted loyal customers with their selection of healthy salads, gourmet sandwiches, delicious entrées, sumptuous desserts, and of course their famous flavored lemonades. For this commercial project, ARTO flexed our factory muscles to custom-craft a pristine, whiteware bisque dimensional tile that enhances the restaurant's cleanly modern look while creating visual interest.

+ MADE TO ORDER

Overlooking Santa Monica's panoramic Pacific views, Meat on Ocean delivers what it so succinctly promises—a deliciously diverse selection of steaks served just the way you ordered. As sturdy as the fare they serve, our Artillo 8-inch Hexagons in Normandy Cream have the unique personality of reclaimed terracotta, lending the restaurant a warmth and rustic elegance. No matter how much their patrons eat, the durable concrete composition of these tiles are made to withstand the heaviest of traffic.

A welcome addition to San Antonio's burgeoning foodie scene, the Hanzo Gastropub concocts exotic cocktails and serves up small plates inspired by a fusion of Asian and other cultures. Installed along the restaurant's interior walls, ARTO's 8-inch ceramic Conche tiles create a memorable multi-layered conversation piece for patrons. The designer chose an eclectic collection of glazes to give the tiles their unique finish.

ACE SERVE

Situated just two blocks from the Pacific Ocean in the laid-back SoCal surf town of Hermosa Beach, Serve on 2nd is the concept of Jon Mesko—a former professional volleyball player. To capture a casual yet contemporary beachside dining experience, Jon's designers selected our Roman pavers in a striking pattern of Ocean Green Light, Early Gray, and Natural Gray. The pavers' sand set wicks moisture into the cracks instead of collecting on the floor's surface, making them a highly functional flooring choice for the restaurant's fun patio.

+ FRENCH ACCENTS

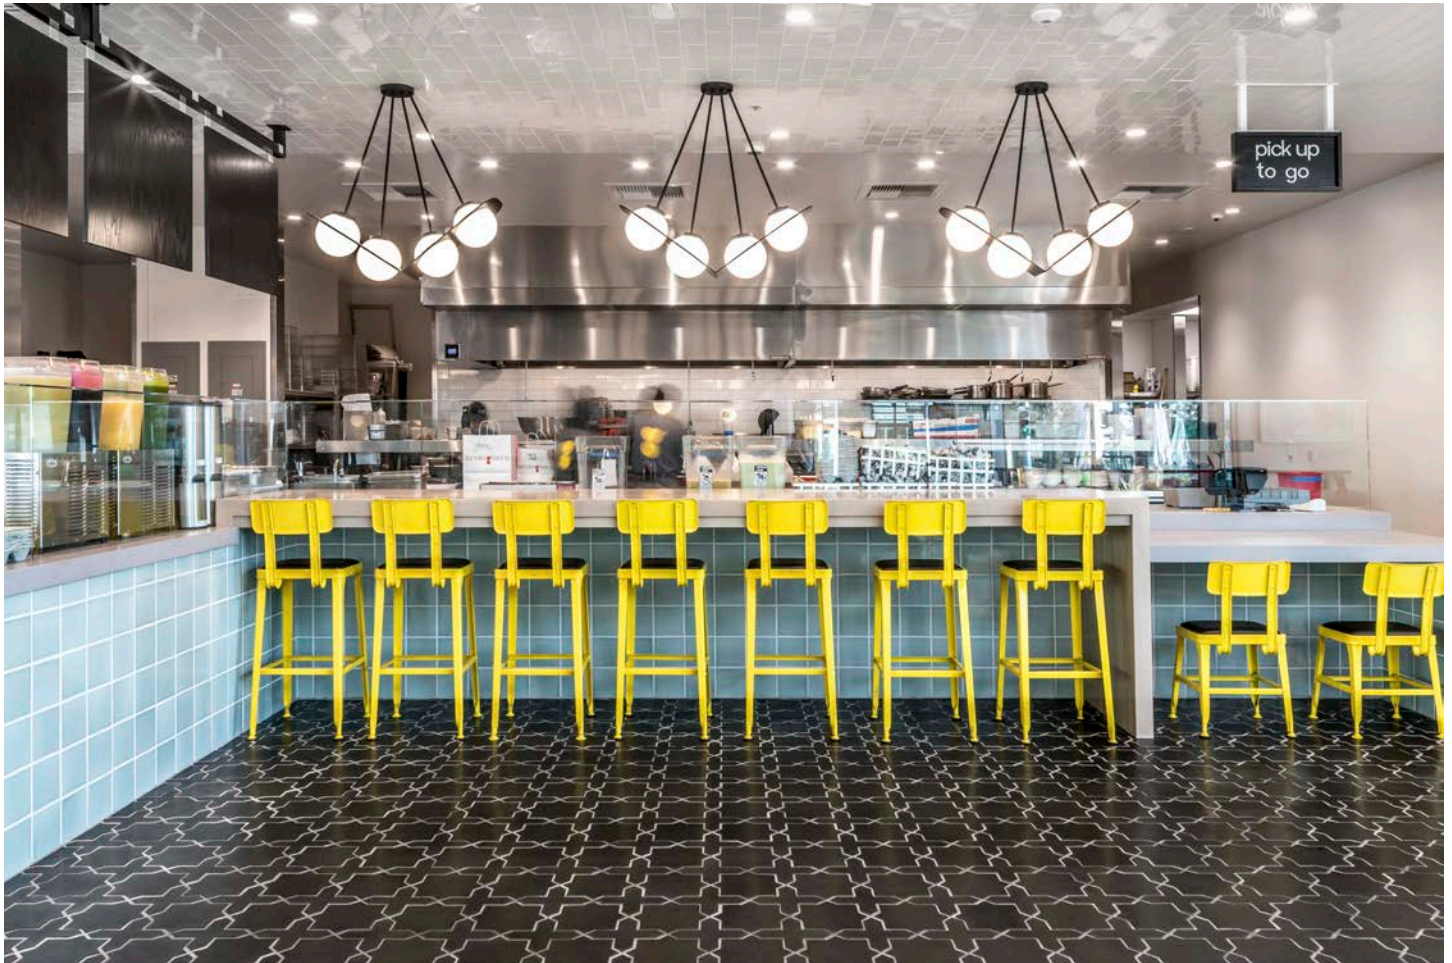

A delightfully authentic French bakery, pastry shop, and café located in Downtown LA, Pitchoun Bakery serves great food in a friendly ambiance that incorporates an unexpected mix of materials. Among those materials you'll find ARTO's Antik Thin Brick Veneer. Used liberally throughout the café's interior space and cozy outdoor patio, the veneer highlights Pitchoun's charming French attitude that feels straight from the streets of Paris.

+ SUSTAINABLE BEAUTY

Like all its locations, the Tender Greens restaurant in El Segundo, California, is run by a personal chef who creates deliciously fresh meals from locally sourced ingredients. Naturally, the restaurant attracts a high volume of eco-minded patrons. So ARTO paired the location with our terracotta arabesque tiles high-fired with our black diamond glaze for superior slip-and-fall resistance as well as durability. The tiles are made from locally sourced, sustainable materials, making them the perfect complement to Tender Green's menu.

HOOKED ON THE LOOK

With ocean-to-plate fresh seafood and new-wave inspired dishes on their menu, Laurel Point in Studio City, California, was naturally drawn to our Conche tiles. Used to highlight the bar and delineate a transition to their main floor, these unique scale-shaped tiles bring a playful nautical design element to the space. The mix-and-match palette uses a motif of blue, white, and gray that coordinates with color themes throughout the restaurant.

SIZE MATTERS

It's not just what's on the menu that stands out at Redbird restaurant in Downtown LA. It's also what's on the floor. To accentuate Redbird's wonderful open space, hardware-style fixtures, and oversized upholstered seating, the designers chose ARTO's large-format concrete picket set. Sometimes bigger really is better.

+ JUST RIGHT

A Southern California beachfront fixture for decades, the iconic Santa Barbara Inn has evolved from a sleepy mid-century modern motel to a contemporary Mediterranean resort. As part of this transformation, the owners envisioned a terracotta tile in a specific hard-to-find sunny tone for their lobby floors. The search led them to ARTO. Our high-fired Yellowstone glaze gave the architect just the right look with the needed durability for a high-traffic area.

INSTITUTIONAL

Public spaces provide vital gathering spots central to communities. At ARTO, we've been honored to play a part in helping make these important spaces functional, attractive, safe, and welcoming for those who frequent them.

Over the past five decades, we've had the pleasure of collaborating with universities, cities, and religious institutions nationwide on institutional projects of all sizes. As part of these collaborations, we have handcrafted durable and distinctive tiles, bricks, and pavers for a wide range of high-profile projects including churches, community centers, academic halls, libraries, dormitories, airports, plazas, and municipality sidewalks.

In addition to modernizing public spaces, architects have also turned to ARTO's skilled artisans to recreate vintage tiles and pavers for complex restoration projects. Our work has played a role in the restoration of the Los Angeles City Hall plaza, the Mission Basilica cathedral in San Juan Capistrano, and the trademark red tiled sidewalks of San Clemente, California.

There's virtually nothing we can't create or customize. When custom-fabricating concrete panels for the Mariachi Plaza Metro subway station, we made sure the panels resembled the distinctive cantera stone gazebo anchoring the historic plaza. For the city of Camarillo, artists working in our Tile Studio painstakingly handpainted bougainvillea—the city's flower—for the custom murals decorating the entry monuments welcoming visitors.

From contemporary public focal points to custom creations to meticulous restorations, architects and planners trust ARTO's expert craftsmanship, attention to detail, and scalable flexibility. Whether creating a single tile for a historic repair or thousands of tiles for large-scale industrial projects, we share your commitment to exacting quality.

HISTORY PRESERVED

You don't need to travel far for a sampling of old Mexico. Instead, just find yourself roaming the booths in Downtown LA's historic Olvera Street Market, an eclectic open-air collection of vendors selling colorful wares, street performers, and delicious restaurants. First opened in 1930, Olvera Street welcomes as many as two million visitors each year. When the near-century old clay brick pedestrian street starting showing its age, the city of LA called in ARTO. We created custom ceramic replica bricks to preserve the beauty and integrity of this wonderful landmark.

When Ole Hanson first founded the city of San Clemente, California, his dream was to create an authentic Spanish village by the sea. Central to his plan for this community were the trademark San Clemente red tile sidewalks that border the scenic ocean views. ARTO is proud to play a role in preserving Ole's original vision as well as the city's cultural heritage with custom concrete replacement tiles—handcrafted to match the unique size and color of the Ole originals.

+ CANTERA REPLICA

Looking for a festive band for your next party? Head to Mariachi Plaza, vibrant East LA's cultural hub and a great spot to find and hire musicians. When the Metro Gold Line Eastside Expansion added a new station at Mariachi Plaza, the planners wanted the project to blend in organically with the existing space. They also knew ARTO had the capabilities to honor this vision.

For the station's soaring canopy, we created a custom finish and color for the concrete panels that complement the cantera stone gazebo in the center of the plaza. Using our Davis-Colors Chameleon liquid color batching system, we were able to faithfully recreate the color specified by the architect with the simple touch of a button. To create the distinctive color and texture combination, we employed an expanded shale aggregate and custom formliner along with surface-exposed colored aggregate. The end result is as unique as the techniques we used.

+ ONE OF A KIND VINE

Visitors entering the city of Camarillo are greeted by brilliant bougainvillea designs decorating its entry monuments. When the city contacted ARTO for a new entry project, we looked forward to recreating that beautiful bougainvillea. Artisans from our in-house Tile Studio got to work handpainting Cuerda Seca tiles with a matching bougainvillea design used as part of a stunning mural at the city's entrance. Lovely to look at, the tiles are also durable enough to withstand the elements.

TRAFFIC-READY

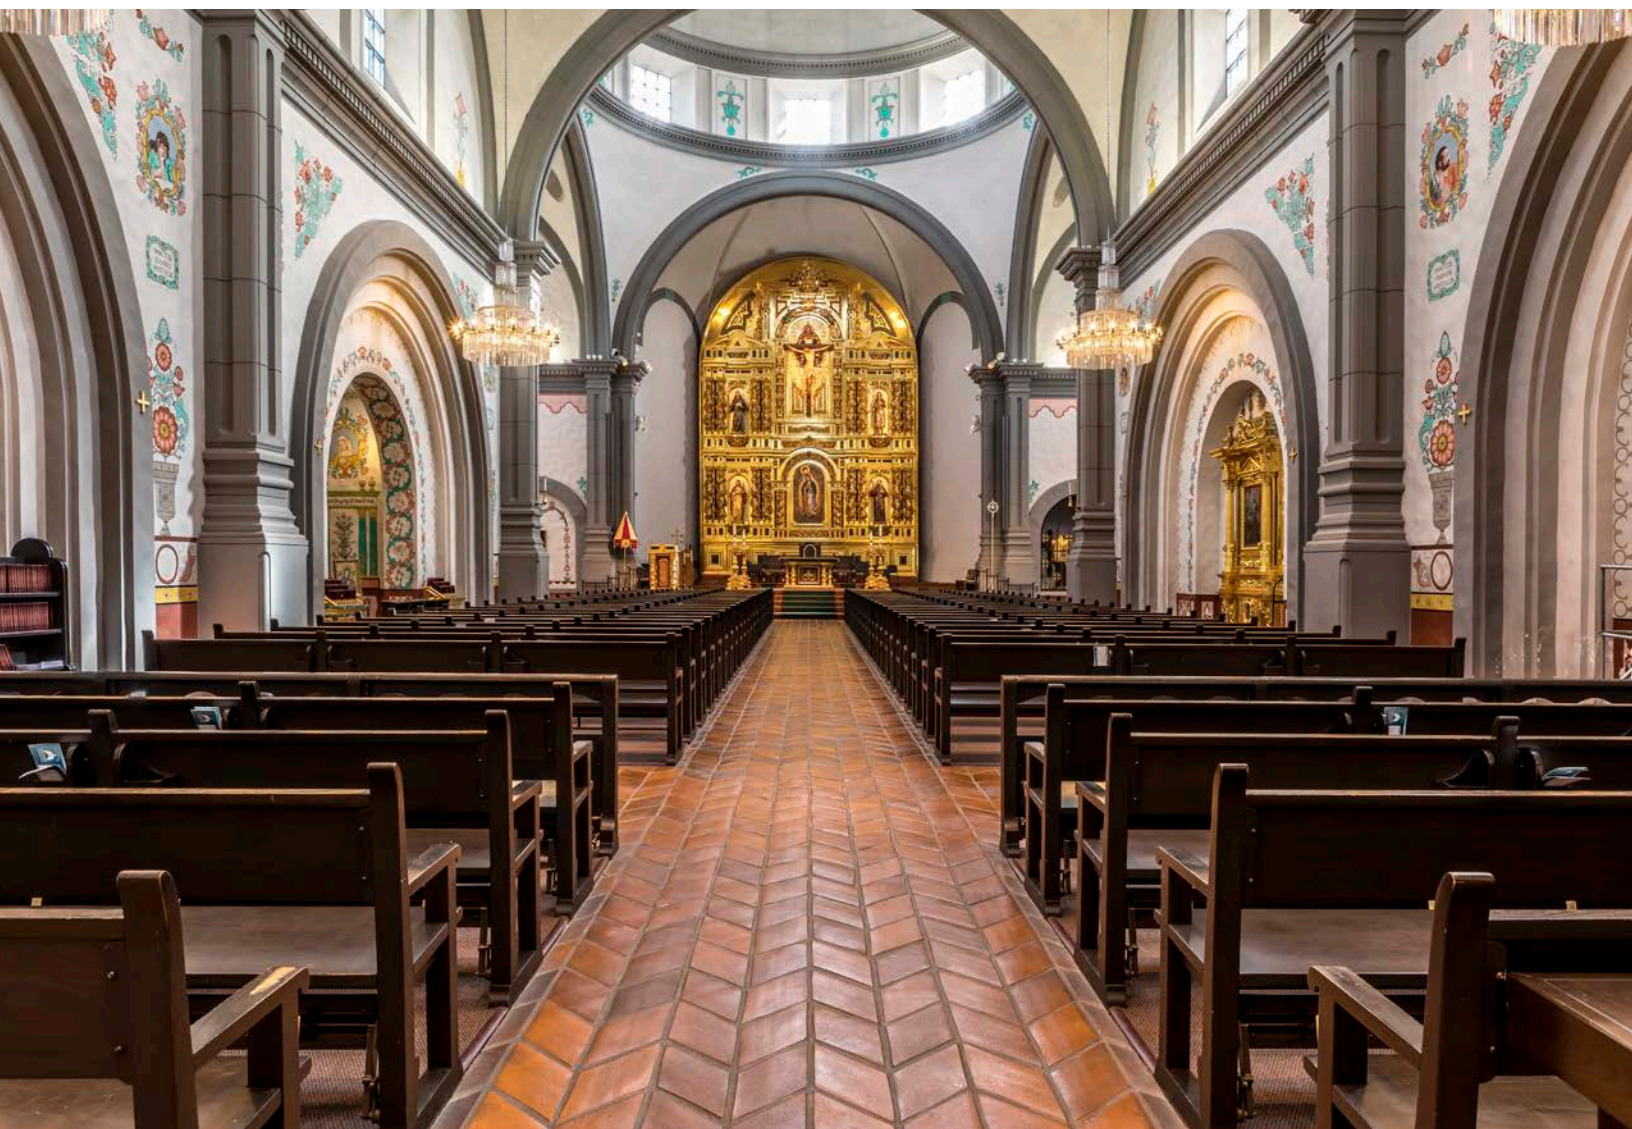

The Los Angeles Port Police Station sits just blocks away from one of the nation's busiest ports. Exposed to the daily onslaught of salty ocean air and other natural elements, the station also sees heavy pedestrian traffic. As such, designers needed an extremely durable product to pave the way in front of the building. Our 4-inch Roman pavers proved up for the job, and promised to provide an attractive, functional walkway to the station's front doors for many years to come.

+ SACRED SPACES

Completed in 1886, the parish church at Mission Basilica in San Juan Capistrano was modeled after the original Great Stone Church, destroyed in 1812 by a massive earthquake. In recreating the church's aisle flooring, architects chose ARTO's high-fired terracotta Monrovia tiles in a custom chevron design that leads the eye to the gorgeous front altar. Impressed with the structure, in 2000 Pope John Paul II proclaimed the Mission Church a basilica—a title granted only to churches with special historic, religious, and cultural significance.

One of our most popular 3D designs, the Buckle is the creation of ARTO's in-house designer, Dan Carrera. Dan's experience began on our factory floor, where he spent a decade elbow-deep in clay and concrete. + UNDERSTANDING COLOR VARIATION

All ARTO products are crafted using natural ingredients shaped by human hands. As such, color variation is an integral part of our products' distinctive personality—and why our customers choose ARTO for their environments. We care about meeting and exceeding expectations. That includes making sure our customers know what to expect when it comes to our products' color variances. The industry-standard VI through V4 rating guide explains the different levels of color variation. Use this guide to help you choose the right products for your preferences.

V1

Uniform Appearance: Differences among pieces from the same production run are minimal. Each piece has the same texture, color shade, and pattern with minimal and insignificant variation from tile to tile. ARTO does not make V1 products.

V2

Slight Variation: Clearly distinguishable differences in texture and/or pattern within similar colors. While the texture, color, and shade may “move around” somewhat from tile to tile, the general appearance from tile to tile is quite similar.

V3

Moderate Variation: While the colors present on a single piece of tile will be indicative of the colors to be expected on the other tiles, the amount of color on each piece may vary significantly. The texture color, and shade may change considerably from tile to tile. All the colors present on a single tile will be present to some degree in all of the tiles.

V4

Random Variation: Random color differences from tile to tile; one tile may have different colors from that on other tiles, thus the final installation will be unique. Random color differences from tile to tile; one tile may have totally different colors from that on the other tiles. These tiles cannot be selected by the customer from just one or two pieces.

+ CERAMIC COLORS

Candy-bright. Beautifully bold. Subtly shaded. ARTO ceramics come in an assortment of colors to match your personal preferences, style, and space. Let's take a closer look.

Different ceramic colors may be best suited to different applications. To help in making the most appropriate selection for your project and budget, we've grouped our ceramic products into three color categories based on application and price.

Crafted from unglazed clay, our Classic ceramic colors boast their vibrant hue all the way through the tile. Our Premium products begin as red bisques that our artisans then glaze. Premium ceramic tiles come in an assortment of colors with 22 different glazes available. All Premium products are laboratory tested to ensure they work with any application.

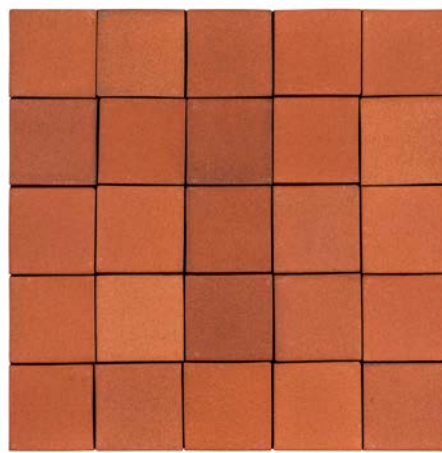

Also crafted from red ceramic bisques, ARTO's Signature series comes in 60 different glazes, an extensive variety of colors suitable for virtually any application. When installed in a pool, fountain, or other water feature treated with harsh chemicals, Signature glazed products require an over glaze at an additional charge. While protecting the tile, over glazes will also affect the final appearance and give the tile an extra-glossy shine. Please note all three ceramic color categories share different price points.

+ CONCRETE COLORS

At ARTO, there's more to concrete than the traditional gray. Our concrete products come in a surprising selection of colors ranging from earthen tones to warm yellow and reds to soothing greens, and yes, a spectrum of grays.

ARTO's concrete products are grouped into three color categories. Our Classic category offers three of our most popular concrete colors. The Premium series offers 20 dynamic color choices at the same price point as our Classic colors. Our Signature line contains 16 unique colors and color blends and is sold at a different price point than the Classic and Premium lines.

Often designed to match predetermined concrete textures, ARTO colors are created with non-fading pure inorganic iron oxide pigments mixed throughout the concrete for durability and longevity. All V Ratings listed for concrete products are based on our Standard texture. Please note that adding texture may increase the V Rating of the product.

+ CONCRETE TEXTURES

+ STANDARD

ARTO's Standard concrete texture varies from item to item and does not need to be specified. Just one example of available Standard textures, the Roman tile pictured left features a smooth surface—compared to other styles and items that feature rough or textured surfaces.

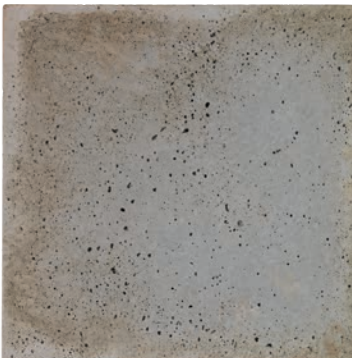

+ LUNA

Our most distressed surface texture, Luna is inspired by the moon's fascinating landscape of craters, seas, valleys, and other topographical features. The effect captures ARTO's signature "rustic elegance."

+ LIMESTONE

Our Limestone surface texture features an organic, weathered appearance that generally lightens the concrete's original color. Limestone is a great option for pools and other applications where extra slip resistance is desired.

+ TRAVERTINE

ARTO's Travertine surface texture adds a rustic, pitted surface to any ARTO color. Choose Travertine as a complement to other materials, or to create your own distinctive appearance.

+ VINTAGE

Combining Limestone, Luna, Standard, and Travertine, Vintage texture creates a rustically distinct appearance ranging from distressed terracotta to natural stone. Vintage is available in any concrete color, and we're happy to package a combination of products representing all four textures.
